In the police court Friday morning Frederick Chandler, 18, of North Grovenordale pleaded guilty to a technical charge of breach of the peace. He was arrested by the local police on a charge of attempting to pass a worthless check at the Willimantic Trust company. The blank checks were taken from the bank book belonging to Mrs. Josephine Goldenthal who conducts the Storrs hotel in Mansfield. Chandler has in his possession four checks which the bank would not cash, not putting faith in the stories told by Chandler. When he was searched at the police station after his arrest the checks were torn in bits. On pieces of the checks amounts of $225, $175 and $50 were found, showing that the total of the checks must have been considerable. An effort was being made Friday morning to assemble them properly.

When Chandler pleaded guilty through the probation officer, the prosecuting attorney asked for a continuance of the case until this (Saturday) morning for further investigation of the worthless check side of the matter and to allow him to have time to communicate with Chandler's relatives in North Grovenordale. The bank said that the checks were made out in Chandler's name. ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Monday Tuesday Only.
There's a well developed thread of mystery in "His Wife's Husband," society drama which will be presented at the Strand theatre on Monday and Tuesday, and in which Betty Hyline is being started.

Mystery plays are the most popular stage plays of the day, if the packed houses which force long runs on Broadway, New York city, are a criterion. Macaroni's production, "The Bat" in popularity, on the screen the mystery thread can be given even greater suspense than on the stage; by this token, while "His Wife's Husband" is a society drama essentially, with an incidental touch of mystery, this tough develops into suspense as keen as that in "The Bat" and adds considerably to one's enjoyment of the picture.

The Hallroom Boys in Breaking into Jail, is a scream. A Sentinel News will also be shown.
